Foreword.

During the Bronze Age, the founding patriarchs of the Confederate Kingdom of Madagascar built fortresses surrounded by water and fortified by thick laterite walls. Generations passed on the know-how to their descendants. These are the "Tambohon'ny Ntaolo" and the "Tanin'Andriana." Seen from the sky, they dot the landscape of the highlands of Madagascar. They are veritable giga proto-Sinaitic writings. The geniuses of the founding patriarchs of Madagascar during the Bronze Age were exceptional and incredible. Madagascar was represented everywhere by "giga maps" on the ground with giga proto-Sinaitic writings several dozen meters high, visible from the sky. Sometimes, the administrative divisions of Madagascar were represented in relief. All the letters of the proto-Sinaitic alphabet are there before our eyes.

I have written five volumes on Madagascar 3000 years. The first volume contains the origin of the Provinces, Regions and Districts of Madagascar. The second volume corresponds to the origin of the different ethnic groups that make up the entire population of Madagascar. The third volume concerns the Islands of the Indian Ocean and their links with the Sea Peoples of the Bronze Age. The fourth volume provides information on the islands and peninsulas of the Red Sea of Sudan that were home to the Sea Peoples of the Bronze Age. The fifth volume is devoted to the Proto-Sinaitic scripts of Madagascar. The ancient spiritual cities of Madagascar contain Proto-Sinaitic scripts from the Bronze Age. This sixth volume is devoted to the ancient fortresses surrounded by moats. They are in the form of the Proto-Sinaitic alphabet. Seen from the sky, the "Tambohon'ny Ntaolo" are true legacies that teach us that "Madagascar" knew how to write for more than 3000 years. These ancient fortresses dot the landscape of Madagascar, they are the signatures that remained intact that the ancestors of the Malagasy were "literate" for more than 3000 years. These Giga proto-Sinaitic writings could not be erased by 200 years of colonization.

Conclusion

Proto-Sinaitic or proto-Malagasy Giga scripts are visible from the sky in the highlands of Madagascar. The map of Madagascar is represented several times. Letters of the Proto-Sinaitic alphabet are easily recognizable, these letters measure tens of meters. This is exceptional and incredible, Madagascar is the only country in the world where we discover Proto-Sinaitic Giga scripts that I call Proto-Malagasy Giga scripts whose knowledge and retransmission date back to the Bronze Age. The founding patriarchs of Madagascar of the Bronze Age knew how to read and write, they were "true scholars".
